LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9, 1868.

A brief resume of the history of impeachment of Andrew Johnson may be interesting now when for the first time, an American President is on trial before the Senate of the United States for violating the Constitution and laws of his country. In the Thirty ninth Congress the Hon. J. M. Ashley, of Ohio, offered a resolution to impeach Andrew Johnson, President of the United States for high crimes and misdemeanors in office. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee with authority to take testimony and send for persons and papers. That committee made no report, and at the close of the Thirty ninth Congress, the House voted to transfer the testimony and all the papers on the subject, then in possession of the Judiciary Committee, to the same committee of the Fortieth Congress, which convened at 12 o'clock on the 4th of March, 1867, immediately after the adjournment of the Thirty ninth Congress. During the short session, or part of a session that followed, the committee made no report, and, again, when Congress met in July, the committee still failed to report the result of their investigations to the House. But in the early part of the present session the committee closed their report. They examined about one hundred witnesses, and on the 5th of December, 1867, they submitted their report to the House. Accompanying it was a printed volume of about one thousand pages of sworn testimony filled with the infamous utterances and scandalous proceedings of Andrew Johnson. A majority of the committee, composed of Geo. S. Boutwell of Mass., Thos. Williams of Pa., Francis Thomas of Maryland, Wm. Lawrence of Ohio, and John Churchill of New York—all Republicans—reported in favor of impeachment. The Chairman of the committee, James F. Wilson of Iowa, and Frederick E. Woodbridge of Vermont, both Republicans, reported against impeachment, but thought that the President deserved the severest censure. Two Democrats, Samuel S. Marshall of Ill., and Chas. A. Eldridge of Wis., reported against impeachment, and applauded the course of the President. Gov. Boutwell, who is one of the most eloquent and brilliant orators in the nation, supported the report of the majority of the committee and the resolution to impeach the President, in a speech of one hour, on Thursday afternoon, and occupied nearly two hours again on Friday, in closing. Mr. Wilson followed in opposition to impeachment, and moved to lay the resolution on the table, at the same time calling the previous question, thus cutting off further debate. Gen. Schenck of Ohio, Logan of Illinois, and others who favored impeachment, and desired to speak on the subject, opposed the motion to table the resolution, and, by dilatory motions, or filibustering as it is usually called, the session was prolonged till a late hour in the evening without reaching a vote. On Saturday, the 7th of December, 1867, those in favor of impeachment proposed that if the opponents of the measure would withdraw the motion to lay the resolution on the table, and come to a direct vote on the resolution to impeach the President, they would acquiesce in taking the vote immediately. The vote was then taken, and resulted 57 for impeachment, and 108 against it. Thus ended the first chapter in the history of impeachment. During the three days that this resolution was before the House the excitement was great, and the capital was crowded with visitors, eager to witness the proceedings.

Two or three days after this, the President communicated to the Senate, in compliance with the provisions of the tenure of office act, his reasons for having suspended Edwin M. Stanton from the office of Secretary of War last summer. The subject was referred to the Military Committee. This committee had the matter under advisement about a month and a lengthy report was prepared by Senator Howard, of Michigan, and submitted by the committee to the Senate while in secret session on the 13th of January, 1868. After an executive session of six hours lasting till nearly midnight a resolution was passed declaring that the President's reasons for suspending the Secretary of War from office were not sufficient, and that Mr. Stanton was still Secretary of War. The next morning General Grant placed the keys of the War Office in the hands of Mr. Stanton, and retired to his former headquarters across the street. Then followed the President's letters to General Grant, charging him with bad faith in surrendering the War Office, and his order to Gen. Grant and other public officers not to recognize Mr. Stanton as Secretary of War. The subject of impeachment was again revived, but no formal action was taken in the House, though it was before the Committee on Reconstruction several days, but was finally smothered.

At two o'clock, February 21st, Washington was again startled by the news that the President had sent to the Senate a communication stating that he had removed Edwin M. Stanton from the office of Secretary of War, and appointed Lorenzo Thomas, Secretary ad interim. When the message was received in the Senate Conkling of New York, was speaking on reconstruction, the great debate having been protracted from the 2d of January, the day on which Doolittle of Wisconsin, opened his batteries on the reconstruction acts of Congress. Conkling stopped in the midst of his speech, and, on motion of Morton of Indiana, the Senate immediately proceeded to the consideration of executive business. After seven hours spent in executive session, the Senate resolved that the President had no power under the Constitution and laws of the United States to remove the Secretary of War during the session of the Senate. While this was transpiring in the Senate the Speaker presented to the House a note from Mr. Stanton inclosing a copy of the President's order for his removal. Covode of Pennsylvania offered a resolution to impeach the President, and it was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction. The next day (Saturday 22d), the galleries of the House were crowded to their utmost capacity long before the session opened, and thousands wandered through the long corridors of the great marble and iron structure all day, unable to see or hear what was going on within, but unwilling to leave the scene of so much interest and excitement. A little after two o'clock Thaddeus Stevens, Chairman of the Committee, who is so feeble that he has to be carried from his carriage into the House in a chair, entered the hall. His appearance caused a flutter among the immense audience in the galleries, and the Speaker cautioned the spectators against making any applause or manifestation of disapprobation. Mr. Stevens then rose and sent to the Clerk's desk the report of the Committee, signed by Stevens, Boutwell, Bingham, Hulburd, Farnsworth, Beaman and Paine, all the Republicans on the Committee—and an accompanying resolution that Andrew Johnson, President of the United States be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors in office. Then followed one of the most exciting debates that has ever transpired in Congress, lasting till nearly 12 o'clock Saturday night, and commencing again at 10 o'clock Monday morning and continued until five o'clock in the evening, the hour fixed for taking the vote. All day long on Monday the 24th the Capitol was thronged with thousands of people who could not get within hearing distance of the Representative hall. At five o'clock the vote was taken by yeas and nays and Andrew Johnson, President of the United States was impeached by the representatives of the American people, by a vote of 126 to 47—every Republican present voting in the affirmative and every Democrat in the negative. On motion of Mr. Stevens a Committee of two was appointed to communicate to the Senate the action of the House ordering an impeachment, and a committee of seven to prepare articles ... the House ... Speaker appointed Messrs. Stevens and Bingham on the first committee and Messrs. Boutwell, Stevens, Bingham, Wilson, Logan, Julian and Ward on the second. ... Messrs. Stevens and Bingham appeared at the bar of the Senate at ... and ... notified the Senate, in the name of the House of Representatives and of all the people of the United States, that they had impeached Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and that the House of Representatives would in due time, exhibit particular articles of impeachment against him and make good the same. The committee appointed to prepare articles of impeachment submitted ten articles to the House on Saturday, the 29th. They were discussed until Monday the 2d inst., when at 4 o'clock the House proceeded to vote on the articles, and they were all adopted by a strict party vote except the 7th which was stricken out. The following managers were then elected by ballot to conduct the impeachment before the Senate: Bingham, Butler, Boutwell, Stevens, Williams, Logan and Wilson. The following day the House adopted two additional articles—one offered by Butler and the other by Bingham, making eleven articles in all. The tenth article, offered by Gen. Butler, was supported by all the managers except Mr. Wilson, and was adopted by 87 to 41, a number of Republicans voting against it. The eleventh article offered by Mr. Bingham, had the support of all the managers and was passed by a strict party vote. In the meantime the Senate adopted a series of rules to govern that body when sitting as a court of impeachment. The President of the Senate appointed Pomeroy, Wilson and Buckalew a committee to wait on the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and notify him that the Senate was ready to proceed with the trial of Andrew Johnson and the Secretary of the Senate was directed to inform the House that the Senate was ready to receive the managers appointed by that body to carry to the Senate articles of impeachment.

On Wednesday, the 4th, thousands of visitors again thronged the Capitol. At one o'clock the House formed itself into a committee of the whole on the state of the Union, and the members (excepting some of the Democrats) proceeded with the managers to the Senate, which was engaged in the usual routine business. They entered the Senate Chamber five minutes after one o'clock, preceded by Geo. T. Brown, Sergeant at arms of the Senate, who announced, "The managers of the House of Representatives to present articles of impeachment." After being seated, Mr. Bingham rose and announced that the managers on the part of the House of Representatives was ready to present articles of impeachment for the maintenance of the impeachment preferred against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States. After the usual proclamation by the Sergeant at Arms, Bingham read the articles. The President pro tem said the Senate would take proper action on the subject of impeachment of which due notice would be given to the House. The managers then retired followed by the House and both houses resumed the consideration of ordinary business.

Thursday, the 5th, came, and at an early hour all the avenues to the capitol were thronged with people, it being understood that 1 o'clock the Senate would resolve itself into a court of impeachment. The galleries were again densely crowded by those who were thoughtful enough to come and get seats long before the session began. After an hour spent in the usual routine of business, Chief Justice Chase, accompanied by Senators Pomeroy and Wilson, and Judge Nelson entered the Senate chamber, at 1 o'clock. Mr. Wade immediately suspended legislative business and vacated the chair. The Chief Justice, with his escort, walked to the Vice President's desk and said: "Senators, I am here in obedience to your notice for the purpose of proceeding with you in forming a court of impeachment for the trial of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States. I am now ready to take the oath."

The oath was then administered, in these words, by Judge Nelson:

"I do solemnly swear that in all things appertaining to the trial of the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, now pending, I will do impartial justice according to the Constitution and the laws, so help me God."

The Chief Justice then took the chair and proceeded to administer the same oath to each Senator in succession, the Secretary calling the names in alphabetic order. When Mr. Wade's name was called, Hendricks, of Indiana, objected to his being sworn, on the ground that he might become the successor of Andrew Johnson, and was therefore interested. Patterson, of Tennessee, the President's own son in law, had just been sworn without any objection being raised. A discussion on this point, participated in by several Senators, lasted till late in the afternoon, when the court and immediately afterward, the Senate adjourned.

On Friday, the 6th, the Senate proceeded with the regular order of business till 1 o'clock, when Mr. Wade vacated the chair, and it was immediately occupied by the Chief Justice. Debate on the admission of Mr. Wade was resumed. After some hours spent in this way, the objection was withdrawn and the court was finally organized. After the fact had been announced formally by the Sergeant at Arms, the Chief Justice—who had previously written a communication protesting against the action of the Senate—rose, and said that the rules adopted by the Senate as a legislative body, could not be binding on the court of impeachment, and put the question, shall they stand as the rules of the court, which was decided in the affirmative by an almost unanimous vote. The Secretary of the Senate, Mr. J. W. Forney, (alias "Dead Duck,") was then directed to notify the managers that the court of impeachment was organized. In a few minutes the managers made their appearance, and Mr. Bingham asked that a summons be issued to the President to appear and answer to the articles of impeachment. It was resolved to make the summons returnable on Friday next, and the managers then withdrew. The court adjourned and the Senate held an executive session, at which it was decided not to confirm S. S. Cox as Minister to Austria, but to prevent another nomination being sent in, he was not rejected, but the subject was referred back to Committee on Foreign Relations.

On Saturday, the 7th, the Sergeant at Arms served the summons on the President, requiring him to appear and answer the articles of impeachment next Friday, the 13th. He will be allowed a reasonable time to prepare his defense, and the trial will then be continued from day to day till concluded.

Many interesting facts connected with impeachment and the President's attempt to get possession of the War office have been omitted, and yet the attempt to condense the most important events in this great drama, extending through so long a period of time, into a single communication, has made this letter much longer than it should be. In future, I will be able to give the readers of the OREGONIAN, once a week, a summary of the most important events, as they transpire at the national capital, more in detail, and in less space.

Senators Williams and Corbett, and Mr. Pengra, went before the House committee on the Pacific Railroad, of which Mr. Mallory is a member, last Friday and tried to get an immediate report on the Oregon branch from Humboldt to Portland but did not succeed, owing to a pressure of other business. All our members are working hard for the road, and hope to get a favorable report soon.

A resolution was adopted in the Senate a few days ago, calling on the Secretary of State to communicate the reason why the salary of the Governor of Idaho Territory has been withheld from him. Mr. Seward answered that Governor Ballard had only been suspended and is therefore entitled to his pay, as no successor has been appointed, and the order for his suspension having been revoked.

Mr. Philip Ritz, of Walla Walla, W. T., is here urging the necessity of an appropriation of money to re-open the Mullan wagon road. He has a long article over his own signature in one of the Washington papers, this morning, advocating the measure.

Governor Woods is in New Hampshire, making a lively canvass of the Granite State for the Union ticket. He has been welcomed by large and enthusiastic audiences, thus performing good service in a political point of view, besides bringing to the notice of the Yankees the advantages of Oregon as a home, which only needs a numerous population to ... [illegible] ... in the Union.

The report of J. Ross Browne on the mineral resources of the Pacific coast was laid before Congress a few days ago. It is a very interesting work and contains nearly twice as much matter as the ... report of last year.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Gen. Hancock has ... an order assuming command of the new military division. It includes the Departments of the Lakes and all the East, and Washington, and all the States north of Ohio and east of Mississippi, also Maryland and Delaware.

The contest which has been long pending in the Patent Office between owners of Goodyear's hard rubber patent, and William Muller, has been decided in favor of Muller, after a desperate opposition, and the patent issued to him.

Congressional

In the House, the report of the Conference Committee on the Manufacturers' Tax bill was agreed to, and the bill goes to the President. The House then proceeded to the Senate Chamber when the court opened. Wilson continued offering the documentary evidence commenced yesterday. It included a resolution of the Senate in executive session in response to the message notifying the Senate of the removal of Secretary Stanton. Also, correspondence on the same subject. Witnesses were then called. The first two were officers of the Senate, who testified to delivering copies of the Senate resolutions to the President and Gen. Thomas. The next witness was C. W. Creery, a clerk in the Treasury Department, who testified as to the difference in the form of commission used before and after the passage of the Tenure of Office act.

In reply to questions, Butler said the Managers expected to prove by difference in form of commission used in the Treasury Department before and after the passage of the Tenure of Office bill that the President had ordered the Treasury Department to recognize the act as valid.

Van Horn, a member of Congress, testified to what transpired between Thomas and Stanton when the former demanded possession of the War office. These have been previously telegraphed. This witness was examined at considerable length. Morehead, member of Congress, was also examined on the same subject. Stanbery cross-examined him very minutely. Raleigh, delegate from Dakota Territory, being examined, said he knew General Thomas had been on terms of intimacy with him. Stanbery asked the object in calling this witness. Butler said he expected to prove that General Thomas said to witness that he intended to get possession of the War Office through force. Stanbery objected to this evidence, and appealed to the Chief Justice. Chief Justice decided the evidence out of order. This caused ... considerable commotion in court. Senator Drake instantly appealed from the decision of the chair. The Chief Justice stated that he, as the presiding officer, had the right to say what evidence should be allowed. Drake again rose, but Senator Johnson called him to order and ... addressed the court in opposition to the view taken by Chief Justice, and claimed that the Chief Justice had not power to decide upon the admissibility of evidence. The Chief Justice said if his rulings were not satisfactory, he was willing the Senate should ... upon them. The Chief Justice was then about to put the question to the Senate when Bingham, of the managers, arose to address the court.

Senator Wilson moved that the Senate retire for consultation, which met with general disapproval.

Senator Sherman submitted a question in writing, asking the managers for information as to American precedents on the subject.

Boutwell, of the managers, responded in an argument that the Constitution vested in the Senate exclusive authority over all questions which could arise in the trial.

Bingham, of the managers, read a number of quotations from authorities bearing on the subject.

Evarts, from the counsel for the President, took the opposite view of the matter.

Senator Wilson then insisted on the motion to retire. Thayer called for the ayes and noes. The roll was called and there being 25 ayes to 25 noes on the vote, the Chief Justice voted in the affirmative, and the court then retired.

What the Consequences Would Be

The proposition to "water the currency" for the purpose of paying off the public debt is made professedly in the interest of the masses of the people. It is in reality a fraud which if adopted, will bring the most calamitous consequences upon the very class whom its authors profess to be so anxious to serve. An inflation and debasement of the currency always brings greater evils upon the poor than upon the rich. Under such circumstances, labor is never adequately paid. He who owes a debt will hasten to pay it in worthless paper, and the great bulk of such losses fall upon those who are least able to bear them. In this way the losses that would follow the adoption of this "Democratic" plan, would exceed the amount of the national debt. The business of the country would be brought to a standstill. There being no circulating medium which anybody would accept, all trade would stop. To get out of these intolerable difficulties, repudiation would be resorted to, and then anarchy would follow. Nobody would hereafter resist secession. The Government could not borrow money enough during the next hundred years to go to war with Liberia, or with the Indians on Yamhill Reservation. The example being set by the Government, everybody would have full license for swindling, robbing and plunder, and the fruits of the "time honored principles" would be enjoyed to the full extent in the general disruption and disorganization of society.

Therefore it is that they are no friends to the masses of the people, who make this proposition and press its adoption. The policy of inflation has often been tried, and always with calamitous results. And experience has shown that those resulting distresses and bitter consequences always fall more heavily on the operative or laboring classes than on any others. Let nobody be deceived. The honest way is the only safe one. So dishonorable a scheme as this "Democratic" proposition, will certainly meet with a terrible retribution. It is a law of our being from which we cannot escape, and whole peoples, as well as single individuals are often made to feel and to recognize it. Let no laboring man believe that it would be to his advantage to have an unlimited quantity of greenbacks put in circulation on pretense of paying off the bonds.

The Necessity of Harmony

From different parts of the State we hear that our party friends are united and harmonious. There should be the greatest care in the selection of county tickets, so that no element of discord may be introduced to mar the harmony and efficiency of the party. The mission of the Union party is not yet completed. The ground so nobly gained must be bravely held. During the years of civil strife the party stood up boldly against a combination of hostile forces in the North and South. It battled against the most disheartening circumstances, an armed foe in front and a malignant, calumniating enemy in the rear, now experiencing reverses, and now gaining successes, until the clouds of war at last rolled back, and as a reward for the universal sacrifices that had been made, peace and national unity had been secured. But this same enemy, this same combination of hostile forces, though disarmed, are at work in another and more insidious way to get control of the country. Let them get power, and the results which we had hoped were securely gained, are at once put in jeopardy. Let them be sure of power, and who would answer for the consequences? In view of these things, should not the members of the Union party use their utmost endeavors to insure harmony! We are gratified to believe that this is the one purpose of the Union men in Oregon. Everything for the cause, nothing for men.

In the Kentucky Democratic State Convention, held at Frankfort in February, a resolution was offered by a Mr. Groves, in favor of paying the national debt in greenbacks. Another member offered a substitute that the debt should not be paid at all. The latter sentiment was received with shouts of applause. The resolution and amendment were sent to the committee on Resolutions and there suppressed. Hon Jesse D Bright made a speech, in which he announced that he was still opposed to the war, (he did not say it was the war of 1812, or some other war,) and that he would never vote to pay a dollar of the national debt. He thought, however, that if the Democratic party came into power, the losses suffered by Kentucky during the rebellion would be paid in full.

We hear very little of late about the nomination of General Hancock, the "second Washington," for the Presidency. We hope the dear Democracy are not going back on him. If they believed their own story, and have a drop of patriotic blood in their hearts, we don't see how they can. Who is there that has any love for his country that would not support a second Washington against all other men? It follows, therefore, that the Democracy are not patriots or they lied, and knew they lied, when they elevated Hancock to the Washington level, or else that every soul of them means to vote for Hancock and nobody else. But the man seems utterly forgotten! Strange!

The friends of the "Lost Cause" in Linn county have made the following nominations: For Representatives, Dr W F Alexander, R D J Johnson, J T Stites, J T Crooks and John Bryant; County Judge, S. A. Johns, County Clerk, George R Helm, Sheriff, R A Irwin, Treasurer James Shields, Assessor, A P Nye, Surveyor, H I C Averill, Commissioners, A S Bassett, C P Burkhart, School Superintendent, J. W. Mack.

The Walla Walla Statesman notices the fact that "splits" have occurred in the Democratic party in some places in this State, and greatly deplores such a state of things. In talking about the matter it remarks that "bolting at any time is bad enough." The editor of the Statesman ought to know how "bad" it is, as he has "bolted" and changed his politics about as often as any man that could be found.

We have good reports from Polk county. Dr J W Watts delivered a speech at Bethel on Saturday last. A large crowd was in attendance and much enthusiasm was manifested. Our friends are confident of carrying Polk county.

A correspondent in Yamhill county asks us to publish a speech recently delivered by Mr Cary of Ohio on the greenback question. We have not a copy of the speech and do not remember to ever have seen one.

A meeting was held at Walla Walla on the 23d ult. to take into consideration a proposition to build a railroad from Walla [illegible] that [illegible] a work which is greatly needed.

Dr J W Watts will address the the Union Club at Forest Grove on Saturday, the 11th inst.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO APRIL 1.

Relating to Impeachment

CHICAGO April 1.—The Republican's special gives the following report of the proceedings in secret session. When the Senate retired for deliberate discussion as to the power of the Chief Justice the debate took a wide scope and was participated in by most of the parties present.

Mr Ferry held that the Chief Justice had the same rights as the Vice President, that he could vote in case of a tie, but not decide law points.

Mr Conkling spoke in opposition to this position, denying that the presiding officer had a right to vote or to decide law points except points of order.

Sherman offered a resolution that under the rules the Chief Justice has not the right to decide law points, which right was vested exclusively in the Senate.

This led to an interesting debate in which the majority of Senators took part, and by which it appeared that a great diversity of opinion prevailed.

The Chief Justice made a very good tempered explanation of his views in regard to his position when presiding over the Court of Impeachment. He thought he was entitled to certain powers as Chief Justice even when presiding over the Senate by virtue of his position when that body is sitting as a court.

Williams, Bayard and other Senators maintained that the Chief Justice was entitled to this position by the Constitution in order that the Senate may have the benefit of his suggestions as the highest law officer of the Government, but they admitted he had no judicial authority and only advisory powers.

Henderson moved to lay Sherman's bill on the table, which was done. He then moved an amendment to the 7th rule to the effect that the presiding officer may rule on all preliminary questions and questions of evidence unless some member of the Senate shall ask that the question be submitted to the Senate for a decision, which shall then be done.

Sumner offered an amendment setting forth that the Chief Justice is not a Senator nor in fact a member of the Court and that he had no right to vote on any question. Ayes, 22, noes 26—lost. The question then recurred on the motion of Mr Henderson, which was carried—25 to 19. No separate vote was had on the question as to whether the Chief Justice has a right to cast a vote, but some of the Senators intend to bring that matter up for discussion to-morrow. There appears to be considerable feeling in some quarters as to the result. Some Senators think the action giving the Chief Justice the powers he now has under the 11th rule will be reversed.

When the Court returned to the Senate Chamber at 6:30 it announced the result of its deliberations. There was a shade of disappointment on the faces of the radicals at the action which virtually sustains the Chief Justice in his views.

The Court immediately adjourned till to-morrow.

There is great dissatisfaction among politicians to-night at the action of the Senate, and they assert that the presiding officer ought to have been stripped of all power—rendering him useless to do harm if he so desired. The supporters of the President express satisfaction at the action of the Senate. It is expected there will be a large crowd in the Senate to-morrow in anticipation that the President's counsel will come prepared to object to the still further examination of the witnesses who were on the stand at the time Stanbery objected to-day.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—The news from Japan per steamer China, is important. The Tycoon has been defeated in battle between Osaka and Kioto, by the allied daimios who were in rebellion and had to leave on board one of his men of war for Yeddo. The daimios have secured the person of the young Mikado, henceforth to be styled Emperor, a child of 12 years of age. They issue orders in his name, and that places those who disobey them, even though it be the Tycoon himself, in the position of rebels. The victorious rebels entered Osaka and burned a case of the Tycoon and a number of Government buildings, the Tycoon making his escape on board the U. S. ship Iroquois, and ultimately to his own frigate, the Kayou, which immediately left for Yeddo. The Foreign Legations were all forced at once to leave Osaka, and make the best of their way to Kiobe, which place was immediately placed under the protection of foreign forces. Shortly afterwards an American and Frenchman were attacked and wounded by a body of Japanese troops. The Japanese out of Kiobe placed the settlement under martial law, and placed five ships belonging to the daimios under the guns of our vessels. An officer arrived from Satoma, but was told that the Ministers would confer with none but the Princes themselves. After a few days a high functionary from the Mikado or the Emperor himself, arrived and requested an interview, which led to the end of the state of siege and the acquiescence of foreigners in the altered state of affairs. It transpired that the Emperor, although but a child, was still supreme, and all orders issued in his name must be obeyed throughout the land. The foreigners that had already been entered into the foreign settlement would be placed under the officers of the Daimios, who would replace those of the Tycoon. The losses of foreigners would be paid, and the Japanese official, who was the means of the outbreak, should be decapitated. The prompt and decisive action of the foreigners has had a wholesome effect upon the Japanese, and no further trouble is anticipated. On the departure of the functionary, it was understood that at no distant day the Ministers should visit the Emperor at Kiota. The Tycoon arrived at Yeddo and great efforts were at once made to collect troops from all quarters and to purchase arms and ammunition. Several foreign steamers among them P. S. S. Co's steamer Hermann were employed in the conveyance of troops from the coast of Yeddo, and active preparations of defence were entered upon. Yokohama was garrisoned by about 2,500 troops, of whom 500 are said to be from the Tycoon's body guard and picked men. Nagasaki was quietly handed over to the new government but all seems to point to a determined stand. The Tycoon in his capital is in a most favorable position, if he can only find loyal servants and good generals he may hold this half of the Empire without difficulty.

The news from China is not specially important. February 8th a great fire broke out at Foo Choo, which destroyed the greater part of the foreign settlement. It is estimated that $700,000 worth of property has been destroyed.

The Peninsular and Oriental steamer Niphon was lately lost off Amoy Feb 23d.

The Hong Kong markets were generally quiet. The decline in California flour had been fully recovered by a demand which had been created for the Manilla market. Closing quotations were $8 @$8 50 per 196 lbs in wood packages.

Hon Anson Burlingame, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the China Government to the Treaty Powers, arrived per steamer China yesterday, and will leave for New York by the next steamer.

Private advices report the loss on St David's Island of the Bremen bark Minnie from Batavia, with a cargo of coffee consigned to this port. The captain, his wife and three sailors were picked up and conveyed to Shanghai.

At a meeting of the California underwriters, Henry Haight, relative of the Governor, was nominated for the office of Insurance Commissioner, created by the new insurance law just adopted. Eleven of the thirteen State companies were represented in the meeting. It remains for the Governor to confirm or reject the nomination.

The Caledonia flouring mills on Juniper street, were burned last night, loss, $8,000.

Legal tenders, 71½@72¼. Gold closed at 138¼ in New York to day. Sterling, 109¾@110¼.

California flour—$12 75@14 50.

Wheat—$3 15@3 20.

Wool—15@33c, the outside price for choice.

Spring Hides—19@19½c for the usual selection of dry.

Cotton—27½@28c, with good demand.

The Liverpool wheat quotations remain steady at 15s.

Flour.—Best Oregon brands of extra quoted at $7 50@7 62½, superfine hlf sks, $6 62½@6 87½, qr sks, $6 87½@7 12½, extra hlf sks, $7 37½@$7 62½, qr sks, $7 62½@7 87½.

Wheat—Market apparently firm at $2 25 for good milling, fair to extra choice $2 45@2 55.

Barley—Quiet at $1 95@2 05.

Oats—We have to report a considerable movement in this grain, during the past twenty four hours, resulting in a marked advance in quotations. It is supposed in some quarters that stock in the State is quite light and 50,000 centals would cover the surplus. Of this amount over 20,000 is now held by a single operator. Sales to day have been made as high as $2 60@2 65. In the present excited state of the market it is difficult to give quotations.

Shipping

Arrived—March 31st, bark Buena Vista, from Port Discovery.

Cleared—Bark Chas Mitchell, Port Townsend. April 1st, steamer John L. Stephens, Astoria; ship Simoom, Victoria; brig Manilla, Emma Harbor.

Sailed—April 31st, steamer Constantine, Victoria.

The Dispatch, the new Democratic paper of San Francisco, declares that "no one who favors the greenback payment policy can be a candidate for the Presidency." That paper says that Pendleton has committed a great error in advocating this policy, but predicts that it "will be found in the sequel that he will lend it no countenance," and that he "will not mar his political fortunes by persevering in such an unstatesmanlike blunder."

The Journal says measures have been arranged to establish a "post" of the "Grand Army of the Republic" at Albany. This looks ominous for "[illegible] Jones family."

A new vessel is building at Port Ludlow, W. T. for the lumber trade. She is called the Glimpse, and will be finished early in the summer.

A Resolution out of its Place

Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all their enemies the obligations of the Constitution and the integrity of the Union under it.

We presume there are few who would think of looking for such a resolution as the above in a Democratic platform. Even Democrats would not expect it. The resolution embodies the doctrine under which the Union party has always been acting. But we find it the fifth in number in the Democratic platform recently adopted in this State. It has no significance in that platform. Or if it means anything in that connection it means falsehood. For that duty which it acknowledges to be the highest incumbent on the American citizen the Democratic party has been criminally recreant. It always preferred the dissolution of the Union to waging war on traitors for its preservation.

Three or four years ago the Union was in great peril. It was uncertain whether it would be possible to maintain the obligations of the Constitution against its enemies. While affairs were in this doubtful state, while the country was struggling for life and needing all the help of every citizen, did the Democratic party pass any resolution of a positive character like the one above given? The records of the party may be searched in vain for anything of the kind. The platforms all manifested an unmistakable sympathy for the enemies of the Constitution. While the war for the Union was in progress they would have suffered martyrdom rather than pass a resolve like the one they have now adopted. At that time they would have called such a resolution a bloody one. It would have been a declaration in favor of the prosecution of the unconstitutional and murderous war then in progress. But after peace is secured, when the Constitution is safe, when the Union is no longer in peril, they can come up shouting, "Let the Constitution and the Union be maintained against all their enemies!"

This burst of simulated patriotism comes too late. The pretense will not avail them. The bed is shorter than they can stretch themselves on it, and the covering narrower than they can wrap themselves in it. They made their own record for infidelity to the country, and they must be tried and condemned by it as often as they ask for political power.

The Democratic quarrel about Presidential candidates could not be better settled than by dropping all the present aspirants, and uniting on "General" Robert E. Lee. They might accommodate all their differences by taking one for whom they claim a high reputation both as a soldier and a statesman. There can be no doubt that Lee is an orthodox Democrat. He is a firm believer in the "time honored principles." His devotion to the "Resolutions of '98" led him to forsake the Government that had nurtured him, and to take service under the Southern Confederacy. He "went with his State," and thus gave the greatest proof of his fidelity to the "Democratic principles." There would be great propriety in his nomination, as he is unquestionably a representative Democrat, who has adhered with unflinching firmness to the principles which the party has been accustomed to "renew its faith in," and to which it lately pledged anew its "adherence and unswerving fidelity" in Oregon.

Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. Harlow and Thomas were the lowest bidders, and recommended that the contract be awarded to them, and that the committee had ascertained from the bids that there would be a saving of $1600 by lighting with oil instead of gas, and some statements were made by members. The matter was recommitted to the same committee with instructions to again advertise for bids.

And tendering thanks to the Fire Department for their labor and the skillful manner in which they extinguished the fire on Wednesday morning—and that the Board sympathize and deplore the sad accident that befell W. R. McMullen, of Engine Co. No. 4, while in the discharge of his duty as a fireman. Adjourned.

FIRE.—Just after four o'clock yesterday morning, a fire was discovered breaking out of the rear part of the building second door from corner of Morrison and Front streets, occupied by Mr. Isodor Schwartz. A general alarm was sounded from all the engine houses; but owing to the fact that everybody was in bed and asleep, the engines were not on the ground for several minutes. Meantime, the fire had broken through the roof of the building and had communicated through the thin partition walls, with Mr. P. S. Ostheims tobacco and cigar store, on the corner, and a house occupied by Chinese on Morrison street, next door to the old shooting gallery. When the engines arrived, it was clear that neither of these three buildings could be saved, as the flames were now, where in the interior, and bursting out at all parts of the roofs and walls. The first effort was, therefore, to save the adjoining buildings and those on the opposite side of the street. It was the work of only a few minutes to get the flames subdued so that there was no danger of a spread of the conflagration; but nothing of value was saved in either of the three buildings mentioned. In a short time they were, with all the merchandise they contained, mere heaps of smoking ruins. The store of R. A. White, adjoining Mr. Schwartz's store, was emptied of all its contents without damage save by water. The roof of the building and the wall next to Schwartz's store were very nearly destroyed and some damage was done to the interior. Sam. Haymond's saloon—the old shooting gallery was on fire several times, and the roof and wall next to the China house were considerably injured. The occupants also suffered some loss from water and the removal of goods. As near as could be ascertained yesterday, the losses will foot up about as follows: R. A. White, owner of the buildings, $1,000, no insurance. F. S. Ostheim, stock of goods, $3,000, insured for $1,000. Besides this he lost his account books and a valuable library. Isodor Schwartz, stock, between $16,000 and $18,000; insured for $9,000 in the Pacific and the North British Insurance Companies. The buildings are not considered to be a great loss, as they were small and old, and would have been pulled down soon to make room for a large brick which Capt. White intends to erect the present season. Mr. Schwartz being absent, his loss can be only estimated, as all his books and papers were lost.

BUSINESS UP THE COLUMBIA.—The Umatilla Press of the 28th ult., says: "As we predicted the business season has commenced with unusual activity. Merchants and freighters show more buoyancy of spirit than was evinced for some time back. The [illegible] landed full cargoes of freight at our levee, which is being forwarded to its destination with dispatch. Pack trains leave town daily loaded with freight, in fact, there are not many more to leave. The following are the ruling coin rates paid for freight during the past week. To Owyhee 12c, to Idaho City and adjacent towns 10@11c, to Boise City 8c, to Shasta mines 7, to Auburn 4½c and to Uniontown 3½c. As a general thing the above prices are considered very low for the time of the season, freighters, however, prefer a low freight in hard coin to a higher in gold dust, the value of which is uncertain after yielding barely 90 per cent of its assumed value. We notice that all our merchants are doing a good business. It is true there are not so many heavy sales made as in former years, but we apprehend the increased number of smaller ones will foot up as largely as the former. We concur in the general opinion that the season will be the most profitable experienced for a number of years. There is no change to note from the quotations of last week, the same prices ruling firmly.

From the [illegible] the Walla Walla Statesman of the 27th ult., we clip the following: Quite a stirring business at that place. Our city for the last few days has presented a lively scene, several pack trains having left here for the upper country. The spring trade is [illegible] to a degree [illegible]. Our merchants are now laying in large stocks [illegible] to meet the spring trade. A number of packers have arrived here during the last few days, [illegible] the Blackfoot country. They report a large number [illegible] on the road for this place, en route for that [illegible]. The departure of pack trains is almost [illegible]. On Wednesday we noticed the trains of Dan Hayes, James McAuliff and J[illegible] start out almost simultaneously. The arrival and departure of trains serve to give Main street quite a business appearance.

RECOVERY OF A LOST MAIL BAG.—On Tuesday, Postmaster Randall received a letter mail bag which was lost in Coffee creek, California, last December, and only lately recovered. The history of the bag is something as follows: It was part of the mail bound north for Portland, which was lost on the 5th of December, at the time the stage was carried down stream, and, if we mistake not, the driver or a passenger drowned in Coffee creek. After lying in the river several months and drifting a considerable distance down stream, it was found by some miners, brought to the Trinity Center postoffice and thence forwarded by the postmaster to Portland. We had a view of the contents last evening after they had been emptied into a box. The letters had been so thoroughly soaked that they had little more consistency than the pulp from which the paper was made, and the greater part of the mass was as little like paper as the contents of a pulp tub. It seems that the bag must have been tumbled over and over, how many thousand times nobody knows, and the paper being soaked and soft, had been ground into pulp. There may be a few letters, of which fragments can be made out, but the mass of them are as thoroughly lost as if they had been ground between "the upper and nether millstones."

ANKLE CRUSHED.—At the time the engines were getting into position yesterday morning, a serious accident occurred to Henry McMullen, an adopted son of Mr. David Monnastes. Henry is the engineer on No. 4's steamer, and he was engaged in bring up, after the steamer had reached the cistern at the corner of First and Morrison. While thus engaged, the Hook and Ladder truck was rushed down First street and an attempt was made to pass between the rear of No. 4 and the curb. The result was that one of the truck wheels ran upon the right ankle of young McMullen, crushing it terribly. As soon as possible after the accident, Mr. Monnastes had him removed home and procured surgical aid. The injury is a serious one and will be likely to confine the sufferer to his room and to crutches for a long time.

MR. APPLEGATE'S LECTURE.—The lecture for the benefit of the Portland Temperance Library Association, by Mr. E. L. Applegate, will be delivered on the evening of Tuesday the 7th inst. at Oro Fino Hall. The lecturer has chosen for his subject, "The Koran—Mahomet and Al Koran." He will treat the subject in a somewhat original manner, endeavoring to divest it of the colorings and prejudices by which historians have surrounded the Prophet and his people, and will consider them as the phenomena of human life. Mr. Applegate's most excellent memory is richly stored with the history and quaint romances of the people about whom he will talk, and treating the subject in his own original style, his lecture can scarcely fail to be as interesting as any ever delivered to the public in this city.

DEAD CHINAMAN.—Deputy Marshal Partlow while looking through the Chinese quarters yesterday afternoon for the purpose of examining their stovepipes, came upon the body of a dead Chinaman in a retired room between Alder and Morrison and some distance back from Second street. The body had evidently lain there a long time as it was in active decomposition and emitted a most horrid and sickening smell. The Chinamen were aware of its presence, but Mr. Partlow is of the opinion that they had delayed burying it through a belief that the man was in a trance and would sometime revive. He directed them to remove the body early this morning.

A GUSTY DAY.—Yesterday was a warm, sunshiny day, but notwithstanding, was one of the meanest, most uncomfortable and disgusting days of the season. The wind during a considerable portion of the afternoon, blew like the old Nick was in it, hurling the dust into people's eyes and playing hob generally with the notions of this people. It was like one of those balmy San Francisco afternoons which a poet described in manner somewhat as follows:

> The wind it blew, the dust it flew,
> And raised particular thunder
> With skirts and hoops and chicken coops,
> And all such sorts of plunder.

OREGON PRODUCTS.—Arrived yesterday, per steamer Senator from Oregon City, 1 box tobacco, 7 bales and 1 case woolen goods, 2,550 qr sks flour and 84 sks feed. Per Alert, 1,642 qr sks flour, 214 bags wheat, 275 boxes apples, 15 cases furniture, 10 coops fowls, 9 live hogs, 1 bale furs. On the previous days, the Wenat brought down from Oregon City, 1,452 qr sks flour, 93 boxes apples, 3 cases and 7 gunnies bacon and 2 boxes eggs.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—On Tuesday evening, the Young Men's Christian Association of Portland was organized by the adoption of a constitution and by laws, and the election of the following officers: E. Quackenbush, President; W. Lair Hill, Vice President; James Steel, Corresponding Secretary; F. S. Aikens, Recording Secretary; R. Weeks, Treasurer. The association will hold regular monthly meetings.

RAILROAD SURVEY.—Mr. John Brazee having arrived last evening, he with Mr. Lewis, Chief Engineer of the Oregon Central Railroad, west side, will this morning, begin the final survey of the road between this place and Hillsboro, beginning at the upper end of the city and proceeding by way of the Fulton Pass.

THE MULLAN ROAD.—The Walla Walla Statesman has received information from Washington City that Phillip Ritz was busily at work endeavoring to get an appropriation from Congress for the purpose of opening the Mullan road. It is expected that Mr. Ritz will soon arrive home, via San Francisco.

FUNERALS.—Our city was saddened in appearance, yesterday, by the passage through the streets of two funeral processions—bearing the remains of Leonard Jewett, and Julius Middendorff.

ALL RIGHT.—The Record says Mr. Brooks has effected an arrangement by which the Salem papers will go in the mails on the day of publication. This is as it should be.

THE JOHN L. STEPHENS.—This steamer sailed yesterday from San Francisco, for this port.

TAILORS WANTED.—Six A 1 Coat, Pants, and Vest Makers can find ready employment by calling on W. King, Superintendent of the tailoring department, at Barman Bros., corner Front and Morrison streets.

P. S.—None but the very best of workmen need apply, as the highest prices are paid.

HOPS.—Mr. Chatfield, at the Oregon Seed Store, has "positively the last lot" of hop plants, to be secured this season.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels.
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Labor is Honor.

Labor is honor! God's spirit hath spoken,
This is the song that his universe sings;
Through the vast halls of creation unbroken
Loudly and clearly the glad echo rings
Up from the hills and the green valleys stealing,
Seeking the light of the bright stars above,
Rises the song to the blue heavens pealing—
"Labor is honor, and labor is love."

All the great deeds that are graven in story,
Laying the high centuries treasured and bright,
All the great lives that [illegible]
Filling the world with flashes of light
Words from whose utterances ages are dated,
Thoughts that have held the whole world in control,
Names on whose echoes the proudest have waited—
Are but the offspring of labor and toil.

Not to the eye that glanceth there lightly
Doth the bright look of the heavens unfold;
But to the spirit that turneth there rightly,
Are all its wonders and mysteries told;
And at each step, to the soul upward springing,
Cometh new radiance, new light from above,
While in the heart is an angel voice singing,
"Labor is honor, and labor is love."

Not on her brow doth the earth bear all brightness,
Deep in her breast do the rich diamonds shine,
Down in the wave is the pearl's soft whiteness,
Hiding the gold in the dust of the mine!
Beauty and power, and riches and pleasure,
Safe in her bosom lie hidden to-day;
Toil is the key that will open her treasure,
And at its touch she will give them away.

Light to the mind that in darkness was clouded,
Strength to the spirit that weakness has touched,
Joy to the soul that in sorrow was shrouded,
Life to the heart when its life spring was hushed,
Truth as their foothold who seek it sincerely,
Skill to the hand when it toileth to live,
Eyes that can look up to heaven's light clearly,—
These are the honors that labor can give!

Widow Brown's Oil Well.

A TALE OF PETROLEUM.

Mrs. Anastasia Brown, better known as the widow Brown, owned and cultivated a small farm of ten acres in a little Pennsylvania town. The humble homestead corresponded in size to the farm, being a one-story cottage, comprising but three rooms. The land was not very productive, but Mrs. Brown had only herself to provide for and though her income would hardly warrant her in living luxuriously, on the other hand there was no danger of the almshouse. On the whole the widow might be considered comfortably provided for, though her farm and house together would have been dear at a thousand dollars.

But Mrs. Anastasia was not contented. She was an ambitious woman, and bent on bettering herself if the opportunity ever presented. To a lady under her circumstances a second marriage with an eligible party seemed to be the readiest road to higher station. But the widow's personal advantages were hardly of a character to inspire very lively hopes in that direction. She was tall and gaunt, and her share of the perishable but rather desirable gift of beauty had been below the average. Besides, she was now forty five, and therefore of rather doubtful juvenility.

It chanced that the wealthiest man in town was a certain Squire Ebenezer Pogram, who, in addition to an excellent farm of three hundred acres, had a comfortable sum invested in stocks and bonds. He was a widower, and in the market His wife would be the foremost lady in the village For this position there was more than one aspirant, but among them all none apparently stood so poor a chance as Mrs. Anastasia Brown. But none the less the widow laid her plans to capture the citadel, and circumstances, aided by her own shrewdness, assisted her to accomplish it

About this time the petroleum fever was at its hight. There was a wild excitement general not only in the districts where petroleum had been discovered, but speculation was rife in the commercial capital, and companies with flaming prospectuses were daily springing into existence. Farms which would have been considered dear at twenty dollars an acre, all at once enhanced in value fifty, or even an hundred fold, and the owners, who had hitherto found it difficult to earn a scanty subsistence, all at once found themselves rich beyond their wildest dreams.

Among those who cherished hopes of wealth from this source was Squire Pogram. He saw no reason why his own acres might not prove to be flowing with oil, and he instituted some preliminary investigations which had only resulted in disappointment. Though already a man of abundant means, he was inclined to be grasping, and had no objection to doubling or trebling his present property. In fact the love of money was the ruling passion with the squire, and this was not unknown to his townsmen.

Mrs. Brown, aware of this fact, determined upon a coup d'etat, if we may so call it, with a view of taking by assault the hand of the squire—for his heart she cared little.

One morning the expressman brought to Mrs. Brown's cottage a keg, which was evidently full of some liquid.

"Fifty cents, widder," he said, as he lugged it into the back room, and deposited it in the corner. "It's rather hefty."

"Yes," said the widow, "molasses is heavier'n most anything else."

"Molasses, is it? Wall, now, I reckon it'll take you a mighty long time to use up a keg full of molasses."

"I'm fond of it," said the widow shortly.

"Yes, but there ain't but one on ye."

"I don't know but I shall take a boarder or two, if I can get them," said Mrs. Brown, improvising a fib on the spur of the moment.

"Then you'll have to piece out your house, I reckon."

The widow was glad when the expressman with his inquisitive curiosity was gone. In the country it is very common to comment with the utmost freedom upon the plans and proceedings of one's neighbors, and this sometimes has its disadvantages.

The widow did not open the keg till the next day. Then, instead of molasses she found the contents to be petroleum oil. It might have been supposed that the substitution would have proved vexatious, but the widow took it very coolly. She managed to get the keg down the cellar stairs, where she locked it up in a closet. First, however, she filled a common water-pail with the precious liquid, and going to the well deliberately poured it down. After this rather singular proceeding, she looked carefully up the road until she saw a horse and buggy approaching, which she well knew belonged to Squire Pogram, who always came over the road about that time, to visit a small house which he was building for tenants a mile beyond.

The squire was just abreast of the cottage when the widow ran out and hailed him.

"O, Squire Pogram," she said, "won't you just drive into the yard a minute? The water in my well tastes so strangely. I do believe its petroleum."

"Petroleum!" The squire pricked up his ears, and made all haste to do as requested.

"You don't say so, widder!" he exclaimed, when did you notice it fust?"

"I didn't really notice it much till to day," said Mrs. Brown. "It might have tasted a little queer maybe, but to day it's very strong"

"Let me taste," said the squire. "I can tell if it's that, or something else. It may be some some dead critter that's got drowned in the well and poisoned the water."

"O, I hope not," said the widow in a tone of alarm. "I wouldn't have my well spiled for a good deal."

"Except by petroleum," suggested the squire. "I s'pose you'd be reconciled by that."

"Well, yes," owned the widow, "I wouldn't mind that."

By this time they had reached the well and the squire had already commenced lowering the bucket.

The widow was quite confident of the result, the oil having been so recently poured in Still she felt a momentary alarm lest it had become so diffused that the portion of water drawn up would show scant traces of admixture But when the bucket came up again she was re assured. On the surface of the water was a coating of oil That was clear enough.

The squire looked at it eagerly. His recent experiments qualified him to judge in the matter. He was silent a moment.

"Well, Squire Pogram, what do you think?" asked Mrs. Brown eagerly.

"I do believe you're right, widder," said the squire. "I'm inclined to the opinion that it's genuine petroleum."

"You don't say so, squire! Well, I'm in luck for once in a way."

"I ain't certain Suppose you give me a dipper, and I'll taste on't."

The dipper was brought, and Squire Pogram did taste. The taste produced some contortions of the face, for petroleum oil as a beverage can scarcely be regarded as pleasant even when largely diluted with fresh well water.

"Well, squire?"

"Mrs. Brown, there ain't a doubt of it. There's a petroleum spring on your farm, and it has broken out in your well."

"Land sakes, squire, who would have thought it! And there aint another petroleum well in town?"

"No, that is none has appeared yet, though I have reason to think some may be found on my farm"

"Its so unexpected, squire," said the widow, meditatively. "I really don't know what to do about it. What would you advise? You've always been a friend, and I can depend on your advice"

"Well," said the squire, clearing his throat, and speaking in a cautious tone, "I think I'd sell the farm."

"Sell the farm!" ejaculated the widow.

"Yes," continued her adviser, more confidently "Being a lone woman, you can't sink wells, and work the petroleum yourself."

"But, Squire Pogram, I'd ought to get the benefit of it."

"Certainly, the farm is worth more than it was. I shouldn't mind givin' two, well, three thousand dollars for it, and that's more'n three times what it would have fetched before"

"I don't hardly think I want to sell it for that, squire I get my livin' off it."

"Yes, widder, but consider what would be the interest of three thousand dollars invested in government bonds—seven thirties, for instance. Why it would be more'n two hundred dollars a year"

"Yes, sir, squire, but that wouldn't hardly support me"

"I'll tell you what, widder, I'll give you three thousand dollars, and you shall live in the house, rent free, as long as you choose. Come, that's savin' fair, isn't it?"

"On the whole, squire," said the widow, "I don't think I'll decide just yet Seems to me the farm ought to bring more'n three thousand dollars. I'm obliged to you for your friendly offer, but I guess I'd better take time to consider, and perhaps consult some other friends."

"Widder," said squire Pogram, feeling that the rich prize was in danger of slipping from his grasp, "I'll tell you what, I know it's foolish, but, as you're an old friend, I won't mind sayin' four thousand dollars. It may be my loss, but it'll be your gain."

"I'm sure you're very kind, squire Pogram, and I hope I'm properly grateful for your kind interest, but I hope you won't be offended if I don't decide just yet. I think I had better go and see lawyer Norcross."

"Don't go and see him, whatever you do," said Squire Pogram hastily, for he feared the lawyer would over-bid him. "Promise me to consider my offer till afternoon, and until then not to tell a livin' soul about what you've found in the well."

"Very well, squire, I'll agree to that. 'Tisn't long to wait till then."

"I'll call ag'in at three," said the squire. "Don't forget your promise."

"I won't," said the widow.

The squire drove out of the yard, and the widow, with a smile of triumph, looked after him

"I'm pretty sure of being Mrs. Pogram, if I work my cards right," she thought.

Meanwhile the squire drove away in a brown study. To think that the prize for which he had sought should after all have fallen to the lot of the widow with her ten poor acres. It was certainly strange. Now how should he find his own profit in it? If he could buy the farm even at five thousand dollars, he could readily make it pay him fifty thousand. The indications were that the oil spring was a rich one. At any rate, the water he drank smacked strongly enough of the oil.

But would the widow sell? That was an important question. The more time she had for thought, the higher probably would her price advance. If she consulted Norcross he might as well give it up as a lost chance, for the lawyer would be as anxious to secure it as himself. That was not to be thought of for a moment. But what if Mrs. Brown declined his offer! Was there no other way?

It was just at this moment that the other way suggested itself. He was a widower. Mrs. Brown was a widow. By marrying her he would secure a farm, and not be compelled to pay down a dollar, beyond the minister's fee for uniting them. Mrs. Brown was not exactly the woman he had intended to marry for his second wife; she certainly was not handsome, but Squire Pogram was a practical man, and he knew that she was a smart, practical woman, and would keep his household in good order. Perhaps it would not be a bad plan. At any rate he could hold it in reserve.

Punctually at three the Squire rode up to the door of the cottage.

"How about the well, widder?" he asked. "Does it taste as strong as ever?"

"Wuss and wuss, squire. Here's some water I just drawed up."

The squire did not need to taste it. He could see for himself that the proportion of oil was greater than in the morning.

"Well, widder," he said, "have you decided to take the four thousand dollars I offered you? You see that it will save you all trouble, and you can live comfortable the rest of your days." "Thank you, squire," said the widow, "but I've about made up my mind to send for some man that knows about these things, and get him to attend to it for me. I'll see Mr. Norcross first, and——"

This was enough. The squire had made up his mind.

"Widder," said he, "I've got another plan to propose. It may seem kind of sudden to you, but I've been thinkin' of it for some time, (how long, squire?) and that is, that I need a wife. Things is gettin' slack at home, and it needs a woman to straighten 'em out. I ain't a man of words. Widder, will you become Mrs. Pogram?"

"O squire," said the widow, "it's so unexpected that it frustrates me. But I'm free to say that I've always respected your character, and thought you a man that any woman might be proud to marry."

"You consent, then?"

"I do," said the widow promptly, "and I'm glad to have this new burden off my shoulders.'

"Yes, widder, it ought to be attended to at once. I think we'd better marry to morrow so as to lose no time."

"Just as you say, squire. I'll be ready."

The next day the clergyman's services were called in requisition, and to the astonishment and anger of all the aspirants to Squire Pogram's hand the prize was carried off by the Widow Brown, 'who's as ugly as sin; goodness knows what he saw in her.'"

The day after there was another surprise. A company of workmen were seen busily engaged in sinking deeper the new Mrs. Pogram's old well, and the news spread that petroleum had been discovered there. But for some incomprehensible reason the first strong indications were not borne out by subsequent discoveries. The water regained all its old purity, and after sinking several hundred dollars the squire was obliged to abandon the attempt in disgust. Mrs. Pogram, now installed in the great farm-house, as mistress, bore the disappointment with equanimity. She at least had got what she bargained for, and was satisfied. Whether her husband ever suspected her complicity is not clearly known. It may be confidently stated, however, that any gentleman desirous of starting a petroleum company, may obtain the Brown farm on reasonable terms, with no extra charge for one oil well already sunk.—Public Spirit.

OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
Running West from Omaha
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

THIS BRINGS THE LINE TO THE EASTERN BASE of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans Pass, the highest point on the road, by January The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred Work in the rock cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample The United States grants its Six Per Cent Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services These bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by the United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair shops, stations, and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E D Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present AT PAR IN U. S CURRENCY, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks They pay

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Portland by and by the Company's advertised Agents throughout the United States. Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the bonds will be sent free of charge by return express

A NEW PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices or of its advertised Agents, or will be sent free on application.

TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

OF WHICH THE ABOVE IS AN ILLUSTRATION, has FOUR SETS OF BUCKETS, AND USES THREE FOURTHS OF THE WATER TWICE.

The old high priced, unequalled and unrivalled wheel has been beaten out by a fair working trial made by Mr H. Kelly at his saw mill, and the public can see what he says as to the capacity of the two wheels in the following testimonial over his own signature

MR H W SHIPLEY Sir In reply to your inquiry as to how I like your Pacific Turbine Wheel, I have to say that I have used one over shot and three Leffel wheels – 10 to and 15 inch diameters When I substituted your 16 inch wheel for the 15 inch Leffel wheel though unfinished, it worked the machinery like a top, using 52 ft of water per minute more than the 15 inch Leffell. At your request I subsequently took your wheel out that it might be finished, and then I put in a 15 inch Leffel, but it gave no better power than yours while it used 52 cubic feet more water, per minute After some months, I replaced your wheel and am still using it with the most satisfactory results I have subjected it to some severe tests For instance while running the circular saw in a log which squared 15 inches, I added the planer with a 2 inch knife cutting from one eighth to one-fourth of an inch depth, without in the least slacking the speed. After thorough tests of both wheels I am satisfied that your wheel with gates one-eighth of an inch open gives as much power as the Leffell with gates one third open. At half gate your wheel gives double the power of the Leffel at half gate. At full gate, the power of yours exceeds that of the Leffel, by from ten to twelve per cent. At quarter gate, the Leffel holds no comparison with yours at quarter gate

N. B Mr Shipley was not present at either of the trials of his wheel, he being sick at the first, and absent from the State, at the second trial

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE,
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of wedlock or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible destroying maladies, that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse or solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not [illegible] the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded. free from [illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the [illegible] Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen, and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid [illegible] is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretty [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease as shall be proposed to cure.

Address DR J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney st., corner Commercial, San Francisco Post Office Box 252.
REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE Letter.
Consultations FREE.
